Entertainer's Dream by Lori Morris: Where luxury performs

Lori Morris doesn't just design rooms; she creates worlds. Entertainer's Dream is a cinematic, fully immersive suite built for one thing: the ultimate hosting experience. Every inch of this space is designed to lead guests through a story of deep blues, shimmering brass, and soft velvet. It's bold, it's moody, and it's unapologetically glamorous.

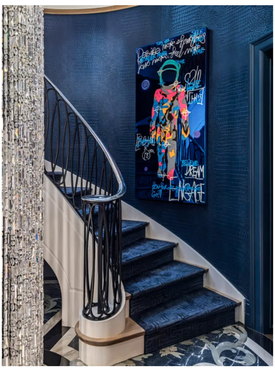
That said, let's discover the project room by room.

The Grand Entrance

The experience begins the moment you step onto the stairs. A sweeping, curved staircase acts as the star of the show, wrapped in deep blue textured walls that feel like high-fashion fabric. Above, a cascading crystal chandelier pours light down like "liquid glamour," reflecting off polished stone floors and custom metal railings. It's a clear signal: you've arrived somewhere special.



The Jewel-Box Lounge

At the heart of the suite is the lounge—a space designed for conversation and cocktails.

- The Vibe: Rich, saturated blues and warm brass accents.
- The Details: Custom curved velvet seating fits the room perfectly, surrounding sleek brass coffee tables.
- The Light: A starburst crystal chandelier hangs overhead, casting a dramatic glow over lacquered surfaces and patterned pillows. It's intimate, expensive, and incredibly cool.

The Social Hub: The High-Gloss Bar

Positioned perfectly between the theatre and the pool room, the bar is the "engine" of the party. Finished in a high-gloss blue lacquer, it features a curved marble countertop and mirrored shelves that make the glassware look like art. Blue glass pendants hang from above, while custom-upholstered stools ensure that the transition from room to room feels seamless.

Two Worlds of Entertainment

The bar connects two distinct spaces, depending on the mood of the night:

- The Cinematic Theatre: This isn't just a TV room; it's a private cinema. With a 14-foot projection screen, tiered velvet sofas, and floor-to-ceiling drapery to perfect the sound, it's built for total immersion. A marble-and-brass fireplace adds a touch of classic warmth to the high-tech space.
- The Pool Room: On the other side, competition meets fine art. A custom-felted pool table sits under a sculptural chandelier, surrounded by deep blue walls and custom woodwork. The highlight? A striking metallic Mona Lisa that keeps an eye on the game.

Entertainer's Dream is a perfect example of "layered luxury." By using a consistent palette of blues, brass, and velvet, Lori Morris has created a destination that doesn't just look good—it performs. It's a place where hosting is treated as an art form and every evening feels unforgettable.

About Lori Morris

Lori Morris is a visionary artist who treats every room like a canvas, spending over 35 years reinventing the meaning of luxury from her Toronto home base for clients across North America. Her studio provides a complete high-touch concierge experience, handling everything from the very first architectural drawing to the final decorative pillow. This dedicated approach has earned her over 30 design awards and features in Architectural Digest, Forbes, and Elle Decor.
