

ELEVATED

L'ATELIER PARIS
HAUTE DESIGN

HOME, ARCHITECTURE &
DESIGN
FALL 2025

URBAN OPULENCE

BY LORI MORRIS

In Urban Opulence, Lori Morris delivers a home that is equal parts haute couture and high function, where bold contrasts, sculptural lighting, and refined finishes come together to create a living experience steeped in drama and sophistication. Each room reveals a distinct personality, yet the design flows seamlessly, creating a harmonious narrative from the grand living areas to the intimate private spaces.

The main living room sets the tone, enveloped in a monochromatic palette of black, white, and deep charcoal. A striking spherical chandelier hovers above, casting prismatic light across plush seating in rich velvets and silks. The composition is meticulously layered with sleek black lacquered cabinetry featuring diamond-patterned inlays, a crisp white coffee table with high gloss finish, and a curated selection of pillows that mix bold chevron, animal-inspired patterns, and solid velvets.

The space feels tailored yet inviting, a perfect marriage of couture style and comfort. The kitchen offers a fresh, luminous contrast. Crisp white cabinetry and seamless countertops form a pristine backdrop for the drama of three smoked glass pendant lights, their tiered forms echoing Art Deco glamour. The black and gold range adds a note of vintage-inspired luxury, while a row of velvet upholstered counter stools with gleaming brass footrests brings warmth and texture to the space. This is a kitchen designed as much for visual impact as for function, with every surface and fixture speaking to refined taste.

The dining room is a theatrical centerpiece. Beneath a bold black coffered ceiling, a glossy white sculptural table is surrounded by plush grey dining chairs, each meticulously upholstered for comfort. Overhead, a starburst chandelier in bronze and smoke glass radiates a warm glow. The black carved fireplace anchors the space, adding heritage depth to the otherwise modern composition, while full height drapery softens the architectural drama.

A secondary sitting room channels softer glamour, its palette shifting toward creams and metallics. A carved stone fireplace, ornate yet contemporary in context, serves as the focal point. Above it, a modern burst chandelier punctuates the air with angular drama, while curved sofas and patterned pillows offer an intimate arrangement for conversation. The play of form is key here, with rounded furniture profiles set against the crisp linearity of the architecture.

The staircase becomes a design statement in its own right, with open floating treads wrapped in dark upholstery and framed by clear glass balustrades. Light flows through the space, enhancing the sense of openness and modernity. A sleek black cabinet with circular bronze pulls stands against the far wall, its minimalist form balancing the architectural energy of the staircase.

In the dressing room, Lori Morris transforms function into fashion. High gloss cabinetry in pure white is accented by mirrored inlays with elegant curved frames. A central island with polished stone top and jewelry-like hardware offers both display and storage. Overhead, a chrome starburst chandelier scatters light like diamond dust, turning daily rituals into moments of indulgence.

The bathroom continues the theme of elegance and restraint, where glossy white surfaces and curved forms create a serene retreat. A deep freestanding tub invites a moment of pause, while twin oval mirrors above ribbed vanities frame the space with symmetry. Overhead, a cluster of smoky glass spheres forms a chandelier that adds mood and texture to the otherwise airy palette.

In Urban Opulence, every detail is considered, from the sculptural presence of lighting to the custom craftsmanship of furniture and finishes. Lori Morris delivers a home that is unapologetically bold yet deeply livable, proving that drama and comfort can exist in perfect balance. This is luxury not for show, but for living, where every day feels like stepping into a world designed with vision, precision, and a touch of theatrical flair.

